Re: Walsh v. Anjost Corp. and Zaro's Bake Shop, Inc.,
Case No. 18-cv-8236

Dear Judge Koeltl:

This firm is counsel to Zaro's Bake Shop and Anjost Corporation ("Zaro's") in connection with the above-referenced matter. We write to request a two-week adjournment of all dates in connection with the National Labor Relations Board's pending application for injunctive relief. Zaro's and the labor union have been actively engaged in settlement negotiations, and held collective bargaining sessions on both October 3 and October 10, 2018. As these two sessions were quite productive and moved the parties closer to settlement, this request is therefore made to provide the parties with sufficient time to ideally reach full resolution of this matter without the need for further litigation.

If this adjournment request is granted, the new dates in connection with the National Labor Relations Boards' pending application for injunctive relief shall be:

1. Zaro's opposition papers filed on or before November 2, 2018
2. National Labor Relations Board's reply papers filed on or before November 9, 2018
3. Order to Show Cause Hearing on November 15, 2018

This is the parties' third request for an adjournment in this matter, and counsel for both the National Labor Relations Board and the labor union involved in this matter consent to this adjournment request.

Thank you very much for your time and attention in this matter.

Respectfully,

David A. Katz
